

TABLE OF CONTENTS

	Page
SUMMARY	i
DEDICATION	ii
ACKNOWLEDGEMENTS	iii
TABLE OF CONTENTS	vi
LIST OF TABLES, CHARTS AND DIAGRAMS	xii
ACRONYMS	xv
CHAPTER ONE: INTRODUCTION TO THESIS	1
INTRODUCTION	1
PART ONE: MAIN QUESTIONS AND SIGNIFICANCE OF STUDY	3
1. Main Questions and Concepts	3
2. Significance of Study	5
2a Productive Adaptation	5
2b Enterprise Industrial Relations	8
PART TWO: RESEARCH CONTEXT	11
1. Role of the State in the Nicaraguan Economy	12
1a Agriculture, Agro-industry and Geothermal Energy	13
1b The Manufacturing Sector and Metalworking Industry	14
1c Industrial Production Issues and the Role of the State	15
2. The Role of Industrial Labour Organisations	16
3. International Environment	19
PART THREE: ANALYTICAL FRAMEWORK	20
1. Productive Adaptation	20
1a Resource Constraints	22
1b Demand Conditions	23
1c Financial Conditions	25
2. Industrial Relations	28
2a Contrasting Types	28
2b Adaptation and Industrial Relations	30
PART FOUR: RESEARCH METHODS	34
1. Productive Adaptation	34
2. Industrial Relations	35
3. Interview Techniques	36
4. Limitations to Research Approach	37
PART FIVE: STRUCTURE OF THESIS	38
NOTES	41

CHAPTER TWO: PRESSURES AND CONSTRAINTS ON PRODUCTION	46
INTRODUCTION	46
PART ONE: MAIN FEATURES OF NICARAGUAN MANUFACTURING PRODUCTION PRIOR TO 1980	46
1. Import Dependence	47
2. Main Branches and User Sectors	49
PART TWO: NICARAGUA'S FOREIGN SECTOR IN THE 1980s	50
1. Trade Balance	51
2. Foreign Financial Flows to Nicaragua	53
3. Trade Relations	55
PART THREE: GOVERNMENT ECONOMIC POLICY	58
1. The State as Customer	59
2. The State as Regulator of Economic Activity	61
PART FOUR: GOVERNMENT INDUSTRIAL POLICY	63
1. Industrial Development Strategy	63
2. The State as Industrial Planner and Policy Maker	65
2a Availability of Finance for Current Production	66
2b Input and Product Prices	68
2c Investment Capacity	72
SUMMARY AND CONCLUSION	73
NOTES	76
CHAPTER THREE: THE NICARAGUAN METALWORKING INDUSTRY	79
INTRODUCTION	79
PART ONE: PRESSURES AND CONSTRAINTS ON NICARAGUAN METWORKING PRODUCTION	82
1. Nicaraguan Metalworking Industry	82
2. Foreign Exchange Shortages, Changes in Supply Networks and Resource Constraints	88
3. Changing Domestic Demand Conditions	93
3a Changes in Marketing Channels	95
3b Domestic Demand Conditions and Export Performance	97
4. Financial Conditions in Local Currency	98
PART TWO: STATE STRATEGY AND PRODUCTIVE ADAPTATION IN FIVE MAIN METALWORKING FIRMS	101
1. Entry into Equipment Production	101
2. Reactivation of the Major Firms Developed under the Central American Common Market	103
3. Entry into Spare Parts Production	104
4. The Rationalisation Programme	106
SUMMARY AND CONCLUSION	108
NOTES	111
CHAPTER FOUR: PRODUCTIVE ADAPTATION IN IMEP AND METASA	113
INTRODUCTION	113

PART ONE: CATEGORIES OF PRODUCTIVE ADAPTATION	114
PART TWO: PRODUCTIVE ADAPTATION IN IMEP	117
1. Adaptation Given Foreign Exchange Considerations	118
1a Sub-conclusion	123
2. Adaptation to Resource Constraints	123
2a Sub-conclusion	130
3. Demand-oriented Adaptation	130
3a Changes in Output Composition	130
3b Adjustments in Product Mix Within Equipment Line	133
3c Limits to Demand-oriented Adaptation in IMEP	138
3d Sub-conclusion	140
4. Productive Adaptation and Financial Conditions in Local Currency	141
4a Sub-conclusion	142
PART THREE: PRODUCTIVE ADAPTATION IN METASA	143
1. Adaptation Given Foreign Exchange Considerations	148
1a Sub-conclusion	153
2. Adaptation to Resource Constraints	153
2a The Structural Mill Area	153
2b The Galvanization Area	159
2c Sub-conclusion	162
3. Demand-oriented Adaptation	163
3a Output Maximization	163
3b Export Trends and Limits to Demand-oriented Adaptation	164
3c Sub-conclusion	167
4. Productive Adaptation and Financial Considerations in Local Currency	168
4a Sub-conclusion	170
SUMMARY AND CONCLUSION	170
NOTES	175

CHAPTER FIVE: PRESSURES AND CONSTRAINTS ON LABOUR POLICY AND UNION-MANAGEMENT RELATIONS	182
INTRODUCTION	182
PART ONE: THE SANDINISTA MOVEMENT AND ORGANISED INDUSTRIAL LABOUR PRIOR TO 1979	183
PART TWO: GOVERNMENT WAGE AND INCENTIVE POLICY	188
1. The Social Wage Policy and Constraints on Nominal Wage Increases	188
2. Government Control over the Structure and Level of Wage Earnings	191
3. Specific Criteria for Setting Wages and Incentives	195
4. External Constraints on Non-wage Distribution Within Enterprises	198

PART THREE: PRESSURES AND CONSTRAINTS ON THE ROLE OF ENTERPRISE UNIONS	200
1. The Role of Enterprise Unions in Negotiations and Dispute Resolution	200
1a Contrasting Political Stances on the Wage Issue	201
1b Predominant Position of the Sandinista Workers Federation (CST)	203
1c Strike Activity	203
1d Enterprise Bargaining	205
1e Labour Law	205
2. Pressures and Constraints on the Role of the Enterprise Union in Efforts to Resolve Production and Labour Issues	207
CONCLUSION	213
NOTES	215
CHAPTER SIX: ISSUES IN EMPLOYMENT AND THE DIVISION OF LABOUR	218
INTRODUCTION	218
1. Main Issues	218
2. Sources of Labour Instability	219
PART ONE: SKILL CONSTRAINTS AND IN-HOUSE TRAINING	220
1. IMEP	221
1a New Skill Requirements and Skilled Labour Supply Problems	224
1b Response to Skill Constraints: In-house training	224
2. METASA	227
2a New Skill Requirements and Skilled Labour Supply Problems	227
2b METASA's Response to Skill Constraints: In-house Training	231
3. In-house Training and the National Wage System	232
PART TWO: SHOP-FLOOR DECISION-MAKING	233
1a Decision-making on Labour Allocation	233
1b Decision-making on Production Issues and Worker Accountability	235
2. METASA	236
2a Decision-making on Labour Allocation	236
2b Decision-making on Production Issues and Worker Accountability	238
3. The National Wage System and Shop-floor Decision-making in IMEP and METASA	239
CONCLUSION	240
NOTES	244

CHAPTER SEVEN: ADAPTATION AND INDUSTRIAL RELATIONS	247
INTRODUCTION	247
PART ONE: CONFLICTIVE AND COOPERATIVE INDUSTRIAL RELATIONS	249
1. Contrasting Types of Industrial Relations	249
2. Union-Management Relations in IMEP and METASA 1979-81	251
2a IMEP	251
2b METASA	252
2c A Comparison	254
PART TWO: ADAPTATION AND INDUSTRIAL RELATIONS: SOCIAL WELFARE POLICIES	255
1. Social Benefits in IMEP and METASA	255
2. IMEP	259
2a Informal Relations and Ongoing Negotiations	260
2b The Assembly Process	262
3. METASA	264
3a Negotiations around the 1984 Annual Agreement and Associated Strike Action	265
3b Changes in Management	266
3c Changes in Labour Strategies	268
4. Summary	271
PART THREE: ADAPTATION AND INDUSTRIAL RELATIONS: INCENTIVE POLICIES	273
1. Incentive Policies in IMEP and METASA	273
2. IMEP	275
2a Enterprise Bargaining	275
2b The Economic Brigades	279
3. METASA	281
4. Summary	286
SUMMARY AND CONCLUSION	287
NOTES	289
CHAPTER EIGHT: THESIS CONCLUSION	293
PART ONE: PRODUCTIVE ADAPTATION	293
1. Financial Criteria and Social Transformation Goals	294
1a Research Findings	294
1b Alternative Policy Measures: Applying a Hard Budget Constraint in Foreign Exchange	296
2. Adaptation to Resource Constraints	297
2a Research Findings	297
2b Alternative Policy Measures: Restructuring and Strengthening Adaptive Capacity	300
3. Demand-oriented Adaptation	302
3a Research Findings	302

3b Alternative Policy Measures: Utilising State Contracts to Implement Industrial Policy	304
PART TWO: UNION-MANAGEMENT RELATIONS	306
1. Favourable Conditions for This Approach	306
2. Asserting Autonomy Amid Institutional Pressures and Constraints	308
3. Measures Aimed at Strengthening Shop Unions	311
PART THREE: CONCLUDING REFLECTIONS ON ANALYTICAL APPROACH	314
1. A Radically-changed Environment	314
CONCLUSION	322
NOTES	323
APPENDIX: CASE STUDY METHODOLOGY	324
LIST OF INTERVIEWS	348
BIBLIOGRAPHY	351